You are undoubtedly a leader. If you weren't, you would not have clicked on this training opportunity. Give CALBO a day, a single day, and join us in Sacramento for a new and different professional development experience that does not involve code books. CALBO has enlisted the help of Speaker, Coach and Trainer Rachel Kuhlen who will join us from Las Vegas for a day of thoughtful leadership and engagement. This will feel completely different than any other training you have attended, for it will promote energy, soft skills development, and your overall capacities as a municipal leader.

The full-day session will be broken into increments, covering a wide variety of contemporary topics, including:

- Leading, managing & promoting a multi-generational workforce
- Building a professional career with personal balance
- The power of influence
- Knowledge & networks
- Executive presence and the 5 Cs - Clarity, Capacity, Commitment, Curiosity while Connecting

The day will be hosted by CALBO leadership who will also provide industry and economic updates relative to our service in the public sector. The event will be held in the picturesque Galleria at the Sacramento Public Library from 9:00am - 5:00pm on Thursday, May 16. This event will sell out - quickly - and has deliberately limited seating. Don't delay your opportunity for growth outside of the codes, please join us.
